BUENOS AYRES, Dec. 12,-The German cruiser Dresden, one of the squadron engaged by the British warships off the Falkland island and which took flight has stranded on the Argentine coast near Port Gallegos.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] LONDON, Dec. 12.-There have been last 24 hours either in the eastern or western fighting zones, so far as available official reports disclose, although In this opposing headquarters quests, claim the advantage fell to their respective armies.

As an offset to the Russian claim of only chance to escape was to take ten having checked the advance of three days in quarantine. of the five German columns invading their territory, the Germans state that their cavalry repulsed the Russian horsemen on the East Prussian fron-tier; that in North Poland German operations ared eveloping and in South Poland the Russians attacks were un-

It is admitted in Berlin, however, that the Russian resistance is by no means broken, although, according to German estimate, in the battles preceding the evacuation of Lodz, the Russians lost 150,000 men including 80,000 previously reported captured while the German losses, it is stated were light. The town of Lodz suffered little damage. There is the same disparity between French and German accounts of the battles in Flanders and France. It is apparent from both, however, that the allies assumed at least a partial offensive. The French announce that this movement is meeting with suc cess, while the Germans assert that the attacks of the allies have been repulsed with heavy losses in killed, wounded and prisoners.

The general impression here is that normal. the allies, with artillery and occasional infantry attacks, are preparing the way for a general offensive and in doing so eeting with the usual stubborn resistance from the Germans, and firmly established in their entrenched positions. The advance, if it is possible, French line steamer Florida from must therefore be slow as Gen. Joffre, Havre, now four days overdue. Rumors are persistent that the German cruiser Dresden, one of those in the German squadron which was defeated by the British squadron under Sir Frederick Sturdee in the South Atlantic, has either been sunk or has sought refuge in a neutral port. There is no confirmation of this report, but confidence that she will be caught was shown by betting on Lloyds which was twenty-five to three that the Dresder will be rounded up by January 2.

Financial and Commercial Conditions in the East Steadily Improving and Country Seems to Be Entering Era of Prosperity

OBSERVATIONS MADE BY DWIGHT B. HEARD

In Course of a Visit to Chicago and New York -Agreement Reached by Progressive Conference as to Future Course

Dwight B. Heard returned yesterday from a two weeks' eastern trip Mr. Heard finds the business situa tion in the east getting steadily bet ter, and in discussing the situation made the following statement;

"Conservative business men whom met in Chicago, New England and New York, all seemed to agreee that he tide of improved business which we predicted in The Republican about a month since, is slowly but steadily being felt all over the country. The immense crops which the Mississippi valley has produced this past season and which on the average are being marketed for fair prices, are beginning to bring good results. The farmers of the Mississippi valley are especially prosperous and an interesting example that prosperity has not hardened their hearts is the re-cent gift of 100,000 barrels of flour with those who have come from that
